Day 01: Seminar

Interactive Session [~ 180 minutes]

This session was focused at how to design ones career in a world that is evolving faster than ever.

The session touched upon the generic topics and was not pointed at a specific industry or batch of participants. The 3 hour long session was aimed at directing the focus of the participants on how to leverage the overlaps and bridge the gap between our current formal education system and emerging changes in market & economy brought upon by the Digital Revolution. Participants were able to discuss their views on the setbacks in the current education system which falls irrelevant most of the times with the changing market day by day. The speaker shared the views of numerous visionaries & futurists on the need to adapt the education system with changing market & economy and provided inputs on how can we keep ourselves updated and aware in order to bridge the gap.

Day 02 : Workshop

Hands On Workshop [~ 5 hours]

Day 2 kicked off with an interesting warm up session that was focused at helping the participants realize the power of creativity and imagination. It also stressed upon how wisdom & knowledge differ from each other and how wisdom seems to come handy in the real world situations. Hence, indicating towards a balanced need of both, wisdom & knowledge. The participants were then briefed on Design Thinking which happens to be a user centric problem solving approach fueled by creativity.

The participants with different skills & expertise divided themselves into diverse groups who received a challenge to be approached via Design Thinking. The teams then started working on the challenge with the user focused research and then gradually moved on to the next phases. The teams were expected to dig deep into the problem statement & then brute force it with a good number of ideas to address the pain points uncovered. Having done that, the teams moved to drafting a rough design of the prototype followed by a presentation of their solutions.

The participants learned some basic skills like understanding team dynamics, information processing, concept of converging to the key points from a huge set of choices, prioritization, laying out a design, prototyping and presentation.

Other area covered in this Workshop was how to make and enhance Resume, preparation for interview and at last doubt clearance and Q&A sessions with students was held in workshop.

The Workshop gave intensive exposure to a teaching profession and renewed motivation to pursue goals, which can lead to higher productivity and fulfillment of professional growth and academic development of students .

12. Workshop on “Strategy for Success and Happiness: Deconditioned Self?”

Dated: 21st January, 2017

The Department of Business Administration organized a Workshop on “Strategy for Success and Happiness: Deconditioned Self?” for the students of First Year BBA and B.Com on 21st January, 2017 i.e. Saturday to enrich their knowledge related to the various ways to enhance the human skills.

The workshop was managed by Dr. Neeraj Sharma, Vice President and Head of Academics at NIIT Imperia, Dr. Rajesh Ohri and Dr. Monika Mehan, Principal, DAV Public School, Delhi.

Some of the points discussed in the workshop included:-

- 1) Happiness that we obtain from items or materials is short lived.
- 2) For true happiness connect with yourself. Slow down and get quiet enough to listen to your inner guide (your intuition or your truth), and spend less time listening to other people's opinions or the loud, critical voice inside your own mind.
- 3) We have very limited knowledge. The world is too big to grasp everything. What we know is very less.
- 4) People have talents but they don't know it. They have yet to find what all they can do and to do that they have to try.

- 5) We are all conditioned and to de-condition ourselves we need to remove all assumptions.
- 6) People normally think is that hard work leads to success which in turn leads to happiness.
- 7) In reality happiness drives a person to do hard work which results in success.

The workshop was highly appreciated by the students specially.

13. Workshop on “Youth Empowerment And Stress Management”

Dated:23rd January, 2017

Department of Computer Science organised a workshop on “YOUTH EMPOWERMENT AND STRESS MANAGEMENT” by Shri Sandeep Vaswani, a volunteer faculty with The Art of Living Foundation. The lecture was organised on 23rd January 2017. The event began with a warm welcome speech by the organisers, and a brief introduction of the Guest Speaker, Shri Sandeep Vaswani. Shri Vaswani was then invited to interact with the audience.

The event was not really a lecture. The Guest Speaker built an entirely informal atmosphere and continuously interacted with the students during the entire session. He also discussed about the three C’s that lead to success viz, Concentration, Confidence and Clarity of mind.

14. Workshop on “Expectation of school from the perspective of teacher”Dated:21st February,2017

The workshop on the topic of ”Expectation of schools from the perspective of teacher” was held on 21st February 2017. The guest was Dr. Rajesh Tyagi vice principal of Mount Carmel School. In this workshop he told that how schools hire the teachers and what all qualities does the school see in a person who has applied in the school like confidence, way of communication and interaction with the reception, how the person is representing _himself or herself in front of the interviewer. He also told how to make the classroom an effective learning. He also told that many schools prefer hand written application rather than the printed one because they want to judge the writing skills of the candidates. He also told that the judgment of the candidate starts from the reception itself. The way the candidate interact with the receptionist, the receptionist judge the candidate. He also told that if we want to apply in some then we should give the handwritten letter especially in his school so that the school can come to know about the creative skills and the ideas that the candidate is having. At the end he gave a Performa of his school. It was related to the “TEACHING EVALUATION OF THE APPLICANT”. In this there were many columns like :

- 1) Name of the teacher
- 2) Teaching in class
- 3) Date
- 4) Subject and topic
- 5) Observed by
- 6) Questions for rating which included some points
- 7) Comments
- 8) Rating scale (10-1)
- 9) At the end sign of the observer.

15. Workshop on “Networking”Dated: 3rd March, 2017

The Department of Computer Application conducted a Cisco Networking workshop 3rd March 2017 in the Seminar Hall. Mr. Damanpreet, CCNA Certified was the resource person for the session. The participants for the session were BCA II year students.

The session commenced at 10:00am. The resource person trained the participants on the various types of computer networking. He expressed the importance of networking for the purpose of having wireless communication and data sharing. He talked about many terms which are associated with networking like ports, FTP, IP address, firewall, etc.

The speaker engaged the participants in hands-on activities to help them understand the computer network topologies. According to him, Internet is the Dawn of the net. People and machines are working together, realizing a dream, through internet. With the help of a story, Sir explained the concept of OSI model i.e. Open Source Interconnection in which he explained all the 7 layers of OSI model. He also gave some information about Domain Name Server (DNS), working of TCP/IP. Overall the session was very interactive and interesting.

It was indeed an enriching session which winded up at 2:00 pm.

16. Workshop on “Android Technology”

Dated: 1st April, 2017

On 1st April, 2017, Department of Computer Science organized a workshop on “Android Technology” by IBM Head start for BCA students with the aim of introducing students to the career opportunities in the field of developing apps and gaming through android.

The topics Covered are:-

- What is Android?
- Android Architecture
- Android Applications Development
- Project Component
- Building and Running Overview
- Android Run Time

Speaker developed a small application in Android for the students’ knowledge. Students asked many questions on application development and their future scope in mobile application

It was an extremely informative and an interactive session where students acquired enormous practical knowledge on Android. The students were very keen for this workshop and they learned a lot about Android. This workshop would certainly help them understand their subject in a new perspective.

2. FDP ON “Contemporary Issues and Challenges in Management, Education, and Information Technology”

Dated: 6th - 11th February,2017

Faulty Development Programme on ‘Contemporary Issues and Challenges in Management, Education and Information Technology’ was organized from February 6-11, 2017.

On the first day, after the Inauguration of the FDP, a special Talk on “INTERNET OF THINGS” was delivered by Mr. David from MCN solutions Pvt. Ltd.. The topics covered included Arduino, coding to make the Arduino work; something which we could have only done many years later if possible. Understanding how one can use code to manipulate hardware according to our needs and necessity was known to us just in theory but in the seminar we learnt how to practically implement it and do it ourselves.

On the second day, Invited Talk was delivered by was Ms. Meenakshi Sheoran who is presently working with NEWS WORLD INDIA. She has worked as a reporter and made her way to become the face of the channel. She has interviewed many notable personalities. She has also participated in Asian WOMEN’S AIR RIFLE EVENT.

On the third day Prof.(Dr.) Rajesh Kumar Tyagi, Director MSI, delivered a lecture on “Connecting Dots”. He explained how we have to connect dots of our mind, intellect and sanskars for development of our soul.

On the fourth day Dr. Mahesh Vidyalkar ji, a renowned scholar and Retired Professor from Delhi University gave a motivational talk on ‘Human Values and Ethics’, he conveyed that for soul, intellect is the most important aspect. He motivated the faculty to develop good quality thoughts to the students and one and move away from materialistic achievements. The second lecture on the day was delivered by Dr. Ramashray Sharma Ji, Retired Professor of Sanskrit from Delhi University. On “Morality and Ethics”.

On the fifth day, the first session on ‘Research Methodology’ was delivered by Prof. N. P. Singh, Professor from MDI, Gurgaon. He emphasized that before starting any Research one should go for the philosophy of the subject. The second session of the day was taken up by Sh. H.S. Bhatia on ‘Spirit of Entrepreneurship’. According to him the faculty and management should inculcate the willingness to become job creators rather than becoming job seekers in students. The last session of the day was delivered by Prof. Poonam Bansal, Deputy Director, MSIT on the topic ‘Issues and Challenges in Indian Education System’.

On the sixth day of the FDP the first session was taken up by Prof. S.C. Sharma, Director, IBS on ‘Challenges before Management Education and producing effective managers’. According to him the main challenge is that managers are produced by faculty who are non managers. He emphasized on developing core competence in students. The second session of the day was taken up by Ms. Sumita Singh, Sr. Vice President and Chief marketing officer, Elsevier, New York on the topic ‘Marketing Strategies’. She reiterated that don’t just create value, capture it. The final session of the FDP was taken up by Sh. Kaptan Singh Ji, Vice President, SMES and Sh. S.P. Singh Ji, President, SMES. We have four stakeholders- Ourselves, Students, Parents and Society. How we behave with each one of them defines our morality and ethics. We seriously need to ask ourselves are we true to all of them?

1. SDP on “Research Methodology and Data Analysis” Dated: 16th -23rd December, 2016

MSI organized One Week SDP on “Research Methodology and Data Analysis” from 16th December 2016, Friday to 23rd December 2016, Friday. Its primary aim was to provide participants with insights and tools to conduct relevant research that would aid managerial decision making and contribute to the body of knowledge in their various areas of interest. The event was designed in such a manner so as to impart knowledge to integrate qualitative and quantitative approaches in research and orient the young researchers to new advance techniques for rational and scientific research. It helped the participants acquaint themselves with the dynamic trends of research Methodology to shape their research work in the right Direction.

The SDP was inaugurated by Prof. K.P. Choudhary, Director MSIT. In his Inaugural address, he reiterated that the present FDP should help in developing the Qualitative Research Papers. Other dignitaries present in the FDP were Prof. Ashok Oberoi, Director Placement, Prof. Poonam Bansal, Deputy Director, MSIT and Prof. Jagbir Ahlawat, Deputy Director, MSI. The Inaugural address was followed by lighting of Lamp by the Dignitaries. To commemorate and in the memory of our great Martyrs, Faculty observed a silence of one minute.

First Lecture in Session I of the SDP was delivered by Dr. Parul Deshwal on Inaugural Research- Need, Importance and Application. She set the stage for the workshop by focusing on basics of Research. Second lecture on Qualitative Data Analysis was delivered by Dr. Rajeshwari Malik. She focused on the importance of Qualitative Data Analysis for Psychological aspects of Human Behavior which are more relevant and important.

In the second session on Dec. 17, 2016 on R Programming, Descriptive Statistics and graphs using R, Dr. Kavita Pabreja taught with practical demonstration the use and ease of R in writing the Research Papers.

On the third day two sessions on Hypothesis Formulation and Data Mining were taken up by Dr. Monika Davar and Ms. Neetu Narwal respectively.

In the fourth session on Research Design and Designing a Questionnaire, Dr. Shavita Deshwal focused on Difference between types of study and Response bias.

Earlier sessions were related more with Data Collection. The next session was technical in nature focusing on the Data Analysis part. This session on Hypothesis Testing, Correlation Regression and Discriminant Analysis were delivered by Dr. Anita Sharma and Dr. Alka Mittal respectively. In the session on Hypothesis testing all the steps and methods of Hypothesis Testing were elaborated. In the second session along with Correlation Regression, a new tool for Segmentation Analysis, Discriminant Analysis was discussed.

On Dec. 22, 2016, the session on Quantitative Data Analysis was jointly delivered by Prof.(Dr.) Harish Singh, Dr. Preeti Malik, and Dr. Seema Shokeen. Almost all the aspects of Quantitative Data Analysis were covered including Graphs, Charts, various tools and techniques etc.

On the closing day two sessions were delivered. First session was delivered by Dr. Neeraj Sharma in which he threw light on important technical aspects related to Research Methodology. The closing session of the one week FDP was delivered by Director, MSI, Prof.(Dr.) Rajesh Kr. Tyagi on Guidelines for writing Research paper. He briefed about the various funding agencies for Research Proposal and the method to write research proposal through various examples.

In the closing ceremony certificates were distributed by Prof. K.P. Choudhary, Director and Director, MSI, Prof.(Dr.) Rajesh Kr. Tyagi. The Vote of Thanks was delivered by Dr. Kavita Pabreja, HOD, Department of Computer Applications.

Dated: 9th September, 2016

The Department of Computer Applications, Maharaja Surajmal Institute organized a guest lecture on .NET for BCA 3rd semester students on 9th September, 2016 and the lecture was given by Mr. Rajendra from Headstart Education. The lecture given by them was tremendous, and the students appreciated their way of conveying ideas. Their approach to the topic with suitable examples attracted the attention of students. The lecture mainly focuses on .Net programming concepts and its applications. He also introduced the participants to some case projects and challenges in the composite industry. The session aimed at making students aware about Database connectivity in .Net which is a great requirement for IT industry and also making students aware about its importance for their professional growth. After asking some basic .Net environment questions from the students, Sir started discussing, explaining the .Net and its uses. Following points were discussed about .Net :

- What is .Net Environment?
- Why .Net is used for Web Application Development?
- How to write, compile, and run a .Net program?
- What are Controls in .Net?
- Hardware and Software Requirements to use .Net for WebApplication.
- Database Connectivity in .Net Application.
- Validation Controls used in .Net.
- Features of .Net Environment.
- Different types of applications in .Net

After discussing the above points, the speaker explained the methods of creation of a web application form using database in MYSQL with some validation controls which are available in .Net and it was practically shown to student.

The Session was very informative and technical for the students. The speakers explained all the points in detail and handled all the queries with expertise. He shared his experience in the area of .Net and inspired the students to pursue career in the same field . The presentation and interaction of the speaker was very effective, wherein he showed many related visuals. It was a great experience as the workshop was motivational, informative, and interactive, and students participated with full zeal. The feedback from the students is also very positive.

3. Extension lecture by Ms. Geetanjali on the topic "Inter relation of music and Education" .
Date: 25th October, 2016.

4. Extension lecture on the topic "Significance of Values in 21st century".
Date: 22nd February, 2017

On 22nd February 2017 Professor Vidya Alankar delivered a speech on the topic "Significance of Values in 21st century". He is retired professor of Delhi University and is a renowned orator. He graced us with his experiences regarding values in Indian Culture in a very interesting way. He started with a quote "As Science is based on Experiments similarly life is based on experiences". And also he said what you want to grasp is what will make your choices. He focused on learning from everything that we encounter in a positive way like we should learn walking from a cat, loyalty from a dog, peace from the Earth, and urge to fly from a parrot if given independence. He said bookish knowledge is just a fraction of life but real test is given by life. He said that internal soul is much more important than external looks by quoting an example of an envelope where the matter of letter is considered of great importance while the outer covering is torn in seconds. Modernization is necessary not in clothes but thoughts. Every individual should be characterized by his/her seva(service), sheel(humbleness), tyag(sacrifice), mariyada(decorum). Breaking of those values results to chaos. Values should not be taught by teachers but should be inculcated to students by simple ways of teaching. He also advised us to maintain a diary not to write our daily activities rather for keeping a record of our activities to reach our goals. Hence, he said that the goals are must for a person without which a person is not less than a animal. He said that one must have his own identity and should reflect on one's thought in a simplest way. One must broaden his horizon of knowledge. For us (Trainee Teachers), he advised to make our teaching in such a way that it should inspire students and also it should be creative, interesting and must relate to moral values and Indian culture. He emphasized on Indian culture, traditions and customs being the oldest civilization. So we as teachers must conserve and protect it. And at last he believed in "simple living and high thinking". Overall, it was an extremely brilliant experience to listen from an esteemed personality like his and it provoked us in a positive way to move towards our goals.

5. Extension lecture by NGO: Juvenile care

Date: 4th March, 2017

NGO: Juvenile Care- Charitable Trust 4th March, 2017 Juvenile care is a social project that was started in 2010. It is currently registered under juvenile care- charitable trust. It works by involving young Indians in social ventures and activities, and has over 15000 volunteers working for child rights and child abuse eradication. Based in Bangalore juvenile care is a registered trust with chapters in Vellore, Pune, New Delhi and Jaipur. It helps students, corporations and non working individuals utilize their time to work for orphanage, workshops, Microsoft office workshops in schools and orphanages, medical camps in slums and villages and teacher training programmes. The mission of the organization is to give the platform to the youth to come forward and work for an alleviation of society. According to them, every individual is equal and they do not want our sympathy but our empathy. They are empowering youth of today for youth of tomorrow. According to them, the perception of the parents should not be the development of a child according to society but at his own pace of learning. We should not look at symptoms of the problem but the problem. We all are not future teachers but future educators. And efforts made beyond the syllabus make teachers educators. They detected variety of students with various disorders for example, children facing ADHT, anxiety, OCD, etc. They did various projects: Project TITLI: they make students come out of the cocoon by meditation, dance therapy and music. Project VIDYA: it was a one week long project, where they shot the documentary depicting "the other side of moon." Cover up India: in this project, clothes were given in small villages and street areas. SPARSH: it is a 2week long medical checkup camp held in Tamil Nadu, once in every year. ZAJBA: there were creative stalls including all the creative stuffs, drawings, etc made by children. They also carry various programmes like 'each one teach one day', flash mob, street plays, etc. They also gave one pen to everyone and believe that we will forward it to a child to motivate him to educated.

6. Extension lecture on "Special lecture on permutation and combination" Date: 21st March, 2017

Department of commerce organised a special lecture on Business Mathematics on 21st March, 2017 from 10:30 till 12 noon on the topic "PERMUTATIONS AND COMBINATIONS" by Dr. J.K.Thukral, Associate professor, Sri Ram College of Commerce, University of Delhi.

The lecture gave conceptual insight into the topic of Permutation and Combination. The main focus of the lecture was on Permutation. The students of 2nd and 4th semester of B.COM(H) attended the lecture with great zeal. It was substantial for the students to learn the methods of solving the questions. Sir provided notes as well as gave examples for the better understanding of the concept. There was active participation from the side of the students and everyone ensured proper discipline. He also shared with the students his contact number for any doubts and queries.

7. Extension lecture on "Role of banking after Demonetization" Date: 25th March, 2017

Maharaja Surajmal Institute organized a guest lecture on 'Role of Banking After Demonetization' on 25th March by Honey deep Singh (Assistant Manager at South Indian Bank, Karol Bagh) who is an alumni of this prestigious institution.

The lecture started with the question of "how many of you have a bank account?" which was responded imperatively by 80% of the students and the speaker was met by surprise as to that fact. It was then followed by a zealous speaker educating students about demonetization. The history and the concept of demonetization was explained to the audience in a very lucid manner followed by the motives of the same while taking points from the audience as well as adding more than what they already knew of. Mr. Honey deep Singh not only captured the audience by his amicable and amenable attitude but compelled them to practically shoot off their seats and participate. After explaining the concept and idea of demonetization he then proceeded to discuss the motives of it before further explaining the government's idea behind it, that is, to shift the focus paper or coin money to digital transactions and banking.

Thereafter commenced the agenda of the lecture, that is, the shift that has been brought about by demonetization in shifting the economy from cash base to digital base and how to deal and grow with that change. This was done by analyzing and discussing the tools like UTI, E-Wallet, Cards, IMPS, etcetera of digital banking the help of real world examples. Mr. Singh went on to reiterate the fact that in a developing country like India digital banking is the need of the hour as it brings into loop 75% of those who are not yet taking banking services by explaining the benefits of digital banking. The principal benefit being that digital banking services are available 24/7 anywhere and everywhere. The lecture drew to an end by the speaker explaining the cautions and precautions to be kept in mind while engaging in digital banking and making the optimum utilization of the tools already present. Mr. Singh concluded the lecture by taking doubts from the recently enlightened audience and answering them to their satisfaction.

The lecture proved not only to be intellectual and informative but highly participative and pleasure to be part of. The ebullience and erudite of Mr. Singh was an experience that was relished by the audience and was exhibited by them by their thundering applause at the end of the session.

- The Many Forms of Gender Inequalities and Male centric Societies
- Towards Gender Parity

The workshop started with the performance by antra society of MSI on songs “Jai Ho” and “Vande Matram” followed by the Welcome address by Prof.(Dr.) Harish Singh. After the introduction of the team from Nirantar Trust. He gave the brief introduction about the topic and welcomed the guests by presenting the flower pots.

It was initially explained by that there will be no teaching, preaching, or lectures in this workshop. Hence, it was expected to be an interactive workshop with a comfortable environment. The students were divided into two teams so as to conduct two parallel sessions by Ms. Archana Dwivedi, Director Nirantar Trust and Ms. Sonam Grover ; Ms Nishi Khandelwal and Ms. Shweta Radhakrishnan .

During the workshop speakers explained the concept of ‘Gender’. They differentiated the words ‘Sex’ and ‘Gender’. They also explained the current gender status in Indian society. They made the students aware about the declining male-female gender ration in population. The reasons behind this problem were also discussed. They compared the status of women in Indian society with the rest of the world.

They also touched various burning topics regarding the domestic violence. They shared the valuable information about some of the laws which are very helpful for women. They also advised the students to understand their responsibilities as a responsible citizen. Being a girl one should know their rights as well as duties. They insisted the students to work hard to make career and to be independent. They also suggested not behaving emotionally but rationally.

They capacitated the participants on the concept of Gender equity and Social development. They enlightened the participants on the Social barriers and the remedies to overcome these issues.

Students also participated in the discussion by sharing their life experiences. Presenters also gave a brief explanation about the common myths of the subject and answered several questions put up by the students.

The workshop was finally concluded with the address by our esteemed director, Prof (Dr.)R K Tyagi. He appreciated the efforts made by Nirantar Trust and the organizing team for conducting a workshop on such a significant topic and to the students for their enthusiastic participation throughout the workshop. He also expressed his views on women empowerment. The workshop was fruitful as after the session ended, participants reported that their perception about women has significantly changed and they have promised to themselves to re-evaluate their behaviours to women around them. Workshop came to an end with the vote of thanks by Dr. Monika Tushir, HOD BBA to members of nirantar trust, the management of the institute and the staff members as well as the participants.

The programs ranged from mid to high level intellect enabling coders to use their programming proficiency to the best.

The concluding judgment was presented by our profoundly knowledgeable assessors after complex adjudication: Dr. Tripti Sharma (Associate Professor, MSIT), Dr. Amit Choudhary (HOD, BCA [E]) and Ms. Neetu Narwal, Asst. Professor, BCA Department. SAURABH GUPTA (MSIT) bagged First position and Reetika Raj (DU) and Rohit Sehajpal (USIT) bagged Second position whereas Akanksha Bhasin and Dhruvi Goyal (MSI) secured Third position. All winners awarded with attractive prizes and certificates.

The championship was successful due to the great ardor and passion of all engaging teams, their team work and synergy was the backbone of the competition. Furthermore the intense hard work of all the student organizers as well as the immense guidance of Ms. Rhythm Choudhary made this event truly remarkable. Prof. (Dr.) R. K. Tyagi, Director MSI congratulated the organizing team for successful organization and also wished to organize more such events in forthcoming future to encourage increasing number of coders to demonstrate their programming expertise.

28. PROJECT MANIA

Dated: 14th January, 2017

Project Mania, an Inter College Project Presentation Competition, was organised by the BCA Department of Maharaja Surajmal Institute on 14th January 2017. Participants from many different colleges including IIT Delhi, MSIT, MSI and many more came to showcase their very creative and tech friendly projects. The participants came up with various new and interesting concepts and hence were able to easily grab the attention of the audience. Some of the Projects Presented by the participants were:-

- ‘Buddy Bot’ – an android application that makes chatting easier.
- A bomb simulator concept was also discussed which is based on the noise and vibration caused by a bomb.
- One of the participating teams also explained the working of ‘Electromagnetic Pulse Generator’ through live streaming.
- One of the most interesting projects was software that could generate machine format of any digit written in human handwriting using neural network.

The efforts and hard work of all the participants was appreciated by Dr. R.K. Tyagi, Director Maharaja Surajmal Institute. The new and interesting ideas implemented and presented by all the participants were also appreciated by the esteemed judges: Dr. Suman Mann HOD (IT), MSIT and Mr. Kumar Gaurav, Programme Co-ordinator, BCA [M], MSI. It was an event full of invention, ideas and enthusiasm. The outstanding project presenters took away some great rewards and left us with some very exhilarating works of technology. Two teams stood first viz: AAYUSH & KSHITIJ (MSIT) and LAKSH ARORA (MSI). HIMANSHU (IIITD) and NISHANT (MSI) bagged Second Position. DEEPAK and SAURABH GUPTA secured Third Position. The event was concluded with the distribution of attractive prizes and certificate of appreciation to the winners. Prof. (Dr.) R. K. Tyagi, Director MSI appreciated and congratulated Ms. Rhythm Choudhary (Faculty Organizer), Megha Panjwani (Student Chief Organizer) and the organizing team for successful organization of the event.

29. Essay Writing Competition on the Topic” Values are Taught or Caught”

Dated: 4th February, 2017

Values regulate and guide human behaviour and action in our day to daily life. Values are embedded in every word we select and speak, what we wear, ways in which we interact, our perceptions and interpretation of others reactions in what we are say and so on.

The whole enterprise of education is extricably linked with the development of values. Devoid of the potential to nurture values, education losses its heart and soul. No one who attempts to depict the spirit of age in which we live can possibly overlook the importance of education for values. Peace and security are facing new challenges that could have negative implications if we do not address them positively.

The problem of declining values is multi-dimensional arising out of combination of major social forces such as globalization, materialism, consumerism, commercialization of education, threats to humanity due to climatic changes, environmental degradation, violence, and terrorism. These have led to insecurities, individualistic life styles, and acceleration of desires, misuse of science and technology, pessimisms, sense of alienation and other negative consequences.

To orient the budding teachers towards this sensitive issue, on 04/02/2017, an Essay writing competition was held in Department of Education on the Topic: “Values are Caught or Taught”. The First Year Students (Batch 2016-17) enthusiastically participated and pen down their thoughts meticulously. They were briefed about the rules for this competition by Dr. Anviti Rawat (CCA Convener,B.Ed) . Time limit was one hour (11:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m.). Word limit was 1000 to 2000 words.

“Your beliefs become your thoughts,
Your thoughts become your words,
Your words become your actions,
Your actions become your habits,
Your habits become your values,
Your values become your destiny.”

— Mahatma Gandhi

30. International Women’s Day Celebrations - 2017

Date: 8th March, 2017

International Women’s day,8th March is celebrated with a spirit to empower the women’s of the college as well as society. The guest was welcomed by Dr. Harish with a brief overview of historic struggle of women’s fight for their rights over the world. Followed by this the a small token of gratitude in form of flower pots was given to the self defence personnel Ms. Shashi , Ms. Kavita and Ms. Sushila by the Dr. Rajesh Kumar Tyagi, Director, MSI; Dr. Monica Tushir and Dr. Anviti Rawat on behalf of Maharaja Surajmal Institute.

On the occasion of International Women’s Day, an informative and eventful workshop was conducted. This event provided an opportunity to recognize the monumental contributions of females to our society. Keeping in my mind the safety of women, many defence mechanism techniques, which women can use when required were demonstrated by the Special Police Unit for Women and Children (SPUWAC) self defence personnel. They conducted the workshop to spread awareness regarding different moves which one can use while subjected to some uncomfortable situation from strangers, while travelling to college or workplace or any other place. The team demonstrated various punches, kicks, knock-out and moves we can use as the situation arises.

The Constitution of India guarantees equality of treatment, prohibition of discrimination on the basis of sex and equality of opportunities in matter of public appointments as Fundamental rights. Changes do not take place soon or easily, but if each one of us join hands in every possible way that we can and start to make little changes within the family from today, it would gradually get implemented and there would be a better society that respects and understands women. The workshop ended with a note of thanks by Dr. Promila Dabas with a message to join hands together to secure safe environment for women where she can lead her life with dignity.

PROUD TO BE A WOMAN!!!
